

Northumbrian Fine Foods (Biscuit International) scoop illustrious FreeFrom Food Awards

Northumbrian Fine Foods (NFF) who are part of the Biscuit International Group has scooped a series of prestigious FreeFrom Food Awards 2019 in recognition of the great taste of their innovative and diverse biscuit range.

NFF was presented with one Gold, two Silver and three Bronze Awards at the UK's only industry awards ceremony aimed exclusively at Free From food, which was held in London before nearly 300 guests at the Royal College of Physicians on 20 March.

Asda Extra Special Free From Cookie Selection produced by NFF won Gold in the 'Tea Time – Seasonal' category of the awards, with the judges praising the great selection of flavours within the cookie box.

The judging panel declared: "It is an innovative idea to have a selection of flavours, with great textures and well differentiated tastes. The white chocolate and peppermint has a lovely kick, while the mince pie flavour is really unusual. Great idea and good price."

Silver Awards went to Tesco Finest Free From Dark Chocolate Ginger Cookies and Tesco Free From Stem Ginger Cookies, while Bronze was awarded to Asda Extra Special Free From Cookie & Cream and Tesco Free From Cookies & Cream Biscuits – all in the 'Tea time' category.

Prewett's Mini's Cheese Biscuits, which are also produced by NFF, won Bronze in the 'Savoury Snacks and Crackers' category of the Awards.

Sarah Turnbull, Category Manager for NFF, said: "We are delighted that our great tasting range of biscuits and cookies, which we produce on behalf of our retail partners, has been recognised in this way. Winning these awards underlines the dedication of all the team at NFF in producing the highest quality Free From biscuits and snacks."
